INTRODUCTION

21.01 Municipal Profile

Latrobe City is part of the region traditionally owned by the Braiakaulung clan of the Gunaikurnai people. European settlement began in the Gippsland Plain in the 1840s and extended to most of the Strzelecki Ranges after 1900.

Latrobe City is now recognised as one of Victoria’s four Major Regional Cities made up of four central towns: Churchill, Moe-Newborough, Morwell and Traralgon which combined form a networked city. The four central towns are supported by small and district townships. Latrobe City is the population and regional service centre for Gippsland. The municipality extends over 1400 square kilometres and is centrally located in eastern Victoria, approximately 150 kilometres east of Melbourne.

Latrobe City is currently home to approximately 74,021 (2018) residents. The population is forecast to grow by approximately 8,560 to house 82,460 people by 2030. The demographic profile is forecast to significantly change over the next 15 years, with 70% of all population growth forecast for Latrobe City is to occur in the population aged 70 and over. The working age (25-29 years), infants and pre-schooler population groups are anticipated to experience below-average growth. (Essential Economics, 2016).

Latrobe City is experiencing a period of economic restructuring associated with the change in traditional employment sectors which support Victoria’s power production including manufacturing and mining. Industry diversification and employment generation are therefore major priorities of Latrobe City and the Gippsland region, drawing on the extensive natural resource base, built infrastructure and local workforce.

Latrobe City is also at the centre of a large forestry industry, which services the largest pulp and paper mill in Australia. Other industries in the area include food processing, retail, engineering, health and post-secondary education. Latrobe City is one of Victoria’s strongest regional economies with a Gross Regional Product (GRP) of approximately $4.8 billion and a total estimated annual business turnover of $10.7 billion. Latrobe’s GRP represents 1.2% of Victoria’s Gross State Product.
